

MANUALS ON RIGHT TO INFORMATION ACT, 2005

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY DEPARTMENT

Manual 1:

Organisation, function and Duties of Information Technology Department :

The Information Technology (IT) Department was set up in 2001 as the nodal Department for Information Technology in the State. It coordinates and spearheads IT related initiatives within the Government and endeavours to provide a supportive environment for growth and development of IT based enterprises in the State.

The Vision:

To make information technology, a tool for attaining all round development and to participate in the global IT revolution for overall prosperity. The goal is creation of wealth, generation of employment and IT led economic growth.

The Mission :

The Government will :-

- (i) Use IT based applications to manage development programmes.
- (ii) Take necessary steps to make the State a favoured destination for IT business, industries, education and services
- (iii) Apply IT tools and infrastructure to aid the process of good governance and efficient administration.

IT Department functions as an Administrative Department within the State Government. There is no Directorate or any office attached to the Department at the District, Sub-Divisional or Block level. An IT Society has been registered in August, 2005 for which the IT Department is the nodal department.

Organisational Structure:-

